Hi. Thank you for sending. My understanding is that there has been further work done, which can lead to additional uses.

Bill, please comment as well.

Have a great weekend,

Nanci

On our call today, Google confirmed that they are aware of the covenant and plan to remediate the site to the extent needed to secure DTSC approval for residential, such as a No Further Action level.

Subject: Contamination and land use on Arena A/B/C lots

Hi, FYI – in response to a question from SOM, Jose looked up the restrictions on uses of the A/B/C lots at the state Department of Toxic Substance Control's Envirostor website.

The covenant is here:

https://www.envirostor.dtsc.ca.gov/public/deliverable_documents/7185956656/SanJoseSportsArena_DEED_43730007.pdf

It includes the following:

“Based on the PEA, the Department concluded that use of the Property as a residence, hospital, school for persons under the age of 21, or day care center would entail an unacceptable health risk. The Department further concluded that the Property, as remediated, and subject to the restrictions of this Covenant, does not present an unacceptable threat to human safety or the environment, if limited to commercial and industrial, parks, and/or open space use.”

“Residential” is defined as “A residence, including any mobile home or factory built housing, constructed or installed for use as residential human habitation.”

The Google project's proposed residential land use alternative for this area would therefore appear not to be consistent with the covenant, which runs with the land.

- 1. Location, dimensions and arrangement of open space, streets and pedestrian and bicycle pathways are approximate and may change as vertical building are developed. Minimum standards to be defined in the Design Standards and Guidelines.
 - 2. Retail, cultural, and other active uses as well as work centers limited to core corporate accommodations, dining systems and other ancillary office uses are permitted as accessory uses under primary land use designations and underlying General Plan land use designations.
 - 3. Project boundaries and building footprints are subject to change as part of separate real alignment process.
 - 4. This represents an illustrative depiction of potential building footprints; however, footprints and massing will be defined by design guidelines and standards document and actual design may differ. See Land Use Sheet 2.09 for land use options allowed.
