When you say record – are you just talking audio?

I have copied Jeff Scott, the public information officer for our Housing Department, since that is your area of interest. We will have City folks available for interview, but during the meeting isn't ideal, since staff will be participating in the meeting. Would you like to set up interviews in advance of the meeting?

Also, the City's interest in the potential Google project goes beyond solving the Bay Area's housing issues.... So if you would like a broader background on the regional economic impact of the development, I can help with that interview, too.

I'm on the technology news side. But affordable housing is now a tech story, so I'll be there.

I'm doing a podcast on the lack of affordable housing in Silicon Valley and if the area can address this problem going forward.

Would a city representative be available to chat? I would likely want to record it.

Thx, Ali

Hi, Alistair:

I will be at the meeting and I'm glad to know you are planning to be there.

No special press credentials or check-in are necessary – you can look for me as I will be available around the sign-in area so I can field media requests.

Have you been following the San Jose development project, or do you usually interact with Google on the tech side?

Elisabeth

Hello there. I'm planning to attend the SAAG event Thursday evening:
<http://sanjoseca.gov/DocumentCenter/View/86508>

I'm an editor at Bloomberg News. Are there any special requirement for media, or can I just turn up?

Thx, Alistair Barr
