1. Has there been any recent discussion with Google in relation to the taller buildings in the airport flight path that was rejected by the Airport Commission? The Airport commission surely provided their minimum requirements for approval by buildings.
2. The San Jose Sharks issue in regards to parking. I would think additional parking could be designed north of the SAP. Plus the current surface parking next to the SAP could be multi-story.
3. The issue of more low income families could include remedied by taller buildings west of the train tracks and north of West San Carlos St.
4. In regards to the Reach 5 Los Gatos Creek Trail extending under the Caltrain tracks to South Montgomery St. I thought the city was committed to the Reach 5 b/c trail project. It is recorded in the Regional Bike Plan, the City's General Plan, and part of Active SJ (20-year Strategic Plan). Why can't this project go forward?

Kindest regards,
